Stewardship Principles to consider:

† The scriptures encourage something called proportionate giving. This is giving that recognizes that we are all blessed with differing gifts and resources. In the book of Mark a young man of considerable means is challenged by Jesus to think in much bigger terms about his commitment as a disciple. Meanwhile a poor widow is commended for her outstanding generosity when she is able to offer only a single coin. It's all about putting the resources we have to the best possible use.

† A common method many church people have used is to calculate their giving as a percentage of their income. In scriptural times believers were encouraged to commit a tithe (10%) to support the work of charity and outreach in their faith community.

† Whatever percentage one decides on, intentional planned giving is a wonderful way to assure that mission, thankfulness, and outreach remain our life priorities.

† See the helpful chart on the back of this page, which aids in the understanding of offerings from the perspective of a percentage of ones income and resources.

† Don't forget about volunteering! Sure, finances are needed, but the presence and talents of our people are what puts life and energy into everything we do.

Use the chart below to help you determine the contribution you can make for 2018.
